

Skillsville Learning Objectives

Executive Function

1. Identify foundational executive function skills by naming and explaining what they are and how they are helpful.
2. Identify how and why executive functioning skills (Success Skills) are important for success in every career.
3. Understand how the same executive functioning skills (Success Skills) are used in different careers by matching specific skills to a variety of career descriptions.

Self-regulation Strategies

4. Understand and define self-regulation strategies, including belly breathing, visualizing, and stretching, and why they are important, and their role in supporting executive function skills (Success Skills).
5. Self-monitor their own emotions and behaviors (Pause), verbally or behaviorally, in order to recognize when they need or could benefit from using a self-regulation strategy.
6. Recognize that by self-monitoring (Pause), they can stop and think so that they are able to effectively use a self-regulation strategy that is best suited for their needs.
7. Increase understanding of and effective identification of more self-regulation strategies, both verbally and visually.
8. Utilize more self-regulation strategies when needed.

Careers

9. Be able to define and understand what a career is.
10. Become aware of a multitude of new, diverse careers, name and describe more careers, and recognize various career professionals.
11. Increase understanding of how careers help their community by identifying how careers help a community function.
12. Increase understanding about how their interests and skills may relate to/open future career possibilities.
13. Develop a positive outlook toward future career possibilities and an increased confidence in one's ability to be a part of the future workplace.
